

fill my holistic practice

"Your Easy Path to More Clients."

7 Simple Questions to Ask - Identify Who You Most Want to Work With

*This is the first step of the "Wake Up to More than Enough Clients" system.
It will help you attract a waiting list of patients/clients who appreciate you, and who happily pay you what you're worth.*

1. What problem of your clients brings you the greatest joy in fixing?
(If you don't have any clients, think about what problem you think the people you want to help have)
2. What pattern do you see in the clients you've enjoyed working with the most?
(ie, serious about getting better & listening to your advice)
3. What problems/health conditions have they mostly had?
4. What problem did you solve for them?

5. What makes you the happiest working with a client?

6. What are you most passionate about? What do you think everyone should know about (ie, related to how a certain health condition is treated, or what misconceptions do people have about what you do?)

If your articles would go into some of the most prominent magazines in your field, or you were given the opportunity to be interviewed on TV, what would you want the world to know about?

7. What is the one main problem that you choose to solve?

Your next action step to growing a waiting list of clients:

If you wish to be considered for a FREE strategy session, go to <http://www.morethanenoughclients.com/strategysession>